

ODD SOCKS DAY

Wednesday 8th November 2023

Dear Parents/carers,

On Monday 13th November it is Odd Socks Day which comes at the beginning of anti-bullying week and we are going to be celebrating it. Anti-bullying is something which we greatly value here at Ravenscote.

We are asking that children and staff come to school wearing their usual uniform for this day but with the addition of some odd socks – the brighter the better.

For more information on the day itself and the organisation behind it:

The children will go about their usual day; however, they will engage in discussion and assemblies based around the topic of anti-bullying to further raise awareness.

We hope you will help support this great cause and we look forward to seeing a variety of socks!

Kind regards,
Miss Passfield
