Dear Parents and Carers,

We know that keeping children safe online can sometimes feel challenging. The online world is constantly changing and children can encounter new apps, games, platforms and risks that adults may not always be familiar with.

To support you with this, we are pleased to share a series of seven short online safety videos, produced by online safety expert Alan Mackenzie. The videos cover a range of topics that are particularly relevant to children and families and are designed to provide practical advice, guidance and useful information that you can use at home.

We will be sharing one video each week, starting with today's video. This will give you an opportunity to watch each video at a time that is convenient for you and, where appropriate, talk to your child about the topic.

Over the next six weeks, we will share a further video each week covering a different aspect of online safety with the aim of supporting you to feel more confident having conversations you're your children about their online lives, understanding the potential risks and knowing how to support them to make safe and positive choices online.

We hope you find this series useful. As always, if you have any concerns about your child's safety or wellbeing online, please do not hesitate to contact the school.

Thank you for your continued support in helping us to keep our children safe, both in school and beyond.

Kind regards,

Mrs Nicholson
